Angel King is the co-owner of Blue Jacket Dairy in Bellefontaine. After several years of research, the idea of transforming milk from their herd into artisan cheese came to fruition. In 2008, Angel and her husband, Jim, opened their licensed cheese facility. Her background in small business management, entrepreneurship and human resources has equipped her to manage Blue Jacket's operation. As the current President of the Ohio Cheese Guild, she works with member cheesemakers and retailers to promote Ohio cheese all over the state.

Before launching Blue Jacket Dairy, she served eight years as the VP of Finance at Allegro, a technology services company in Dayton, Ohio. Angel also worked in Chicago and Virginia for 2 non-profit organizations which both focused on parental rights, an issue of great importance to her. She also co-owns Best Storage, a storage facility in Tipp City, Ohio. In addition, she has managed several successful political campaigns in Ohio and served on her local elected central committee.

Knowing that personal development is important, she makes time to include speaking and leadership skills training in her schedule. For nearly 2 years, she has been a member of the Hi-Point Toastmasters Club and is working through the Presentation Mastery pathway.

She maintains a very full schedule with juggling the responsibilities of being a wife, mother, grandmother, daughter, sister, friend, and cheesemaker. As an avid reader, you will find her squeezing time in to read a significant number of books a year. This is one of the ways she has found that helps her to manage with the craziness of life by slowing the pace down and gleaning insights from books.
