ANGEL KING

Angel King is a business owner, speaker, and intentional living advocate who helps women thrive in the fullness of life—without sacrificing what matters most. She is Vice-President of Blue Jacket Dairy, an award-winning artisan cheese company in Bellefontaine, Ohio, and serves as President of the Ohio Cheese Guild. She also co-owns Best Storage and is the Finance Director for several family-run technology ventures.

Angel's entrepreneurial journey began long before her cheese business. Early in her career, she served as Vice President of Finance for The Allegro Group, a corporate email services company that was successfully acquired by Mail.com. The experience of helping lead a company through growth and acquisition gave her firsthand insight into high-level finance, leadership, and organizational change.

In 2008, Angel and her husband Jim opened Blue Jacket Dairy after researching how to transform milk from their herd into value-added artisan cheese. Today, their handcrafted cheese is distributed throughout the state and served in restaurants, retail shops, and farmers markets across Ohio.

Angel has worked in nonprofit leadership—including her time with the Home School Legal Defense Association, where she supported parental rights and education freedom on a national scale. A pioneer homeschool graduate herself, Angel homeschooled her own children for many years before transitioning them to a private school, continuing her commitment to faith-based, purpose-driven education through every stage.

She has also managed political campaigns, served on her local elected central committee, and is an award-winning Toastmasters speaker who currently serves as Vice-President of Education for her local club.

She and Jim have been married for 22 years, raising a blended family of nine children, and enjoy life with 20 grandchildren. Her life reflects her message: that with intentionality, it is possible to build both a strong business and a meaningful family life.

Angel credits her earliest work experience—packaging gizzards, livers, and hearts at a turkey processing plant and working in her father's sign shop—as the places where she first learned the value of grit, excellence, and humility. She reads over 50 books a year and draws wisdom from both business strategy and faith.
